Description of Training Program:

This is a 192-hour training program attached to a 2,058-hour apprenticeship after successful completion of the training program. The RTI curriculum provides a hands-on learning experience in a factory setting. Students will practice standard sewing techniques on a variety of industrial machines using multiple textiles. They will receive an overview of industrial manufacturing processes, technical terminology, materials knowledge, safety, and employee responsibility. Upon completion, students will be eligible to apply for on-the-job (OJT) at a USDOL approved apprenticeship site.
